The Eastern Africa Cheese and Wine Festival and Dairy Championship

ESADA organized a one-day Cheese and Wine festival on September 15, 2007. The event was a success as well as a learning experience for the managers of the event and the secretariat as well. A Dairy Championship was organized alongside the festival for the best cultured dairy products in the Eastern Africa region. ESADA would like to congratulate the winners as well as thank all the parties who made the event a success particularly the processors among other stakeholders. A similar event is schedule for the month of December 2008 and we would like to call upon all the players in the industry to come forward to support the event.

Tanzania Milk Processors Association (TAMPA) forms a SACCOS

The processors in Tanzania have pulled together to establish a savings and credit cooperative society. This was advised by the nature of their business, the coldness of the financial institution towards agricultural sector and the processors need to expand their existing capacity, acquire more sophisticated technology among other business financial needs that the mainstream financial institutions have shied away from.

Membership

ESADA has continued to recruit members through out the year. We are looking forward for more members joining the Africa's premier dairy association, ESADA. In line with this year's conference theme as outlined below, it is imperative for the stakeholders to have a strong voice to advocate for various issues and policies that affect the industry as well as advancing the trade and quality of the regional dairy products and the general welfare of all the stakeholders in the dairy industry. ESADA undertakes to continuously improve members' benefits. We kindly invite you to take a few minutes to register for membership. More details are available in <http://www.dairyafrika.com/section.asp?ID=9>
